

RADIO CONTROLLED AERONAUTICS ASSOCIATION

Comox Valley, BC

ALL ABOUT OUR CLUB

The RCAA is a non-profit organization dedicated to the promotion of and safe operation of radio controlled vehicles. This organization evolved from the Courtenay Model Airplane Club which was established in 1958 for roughly the same purpose. Over the years we have invested time in developing and maintaining the sites which we presently operate.

The club, along with other clubs on Vancouver Island, sponsors a number of fun events each year designed to enhance pilot skills and promote flying and modelling in general.

Our Club Membership Fee is as follows:

One time only Initiation fee of $50 and an annual membership fee of $100 (due January 1).

- This membership also includes your spouse and children of 18 years or less.
- Fees must be paid immediately or within a three month period in order to use the club's fields and instructors. If a prospective member chooses to pay over a three month period, he/she must deposit $25 with the club at the beginning of the three month period. The payment will be an advance on the rest of the membership fee. If the prospective member decides after three months not to join the club, he/she will forfeit the deposit.
- Club members must be members of MAAC Insurance Corp.
- The easiest way to join is to give your completed application forms, along with a cheque for the right amount, to the club executive and we will cover the cost of mailing all of the forms to the proper authorities.
